THE CITY.

THE DAY -New Year's Day was generally very dull as compared with former years -There was less "calling" than usual, attributable, in part, to the stormy character of the day, the wind driving the dust in clouds through every street, but mainly, doubtless, to the fact that much of the youth of the nity, that element of the community which gives life to such an occasion, was absent engaged in the nobler work of its country' fense. But there were many happy home circles, nevertheless, and many jolly companies of young ladies and gentlemen met together for social enjoyment. The good things, too, were doubtless discussed with as much seat as usual, and in nearly as great The feets of secession will be thrown in comquantity.

In the afternoon, the members of the Council made a call on Mayor Flint, where they were richly feasted, all enjoying themsalves immensely. The Police Force also paid their compliments to His Honor, and enjoyed his hospitality.

The funeral obsequies were impressive, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Aiken and Rev. Mr. Goodrich of the First Presbyterian Church. The following gentlemen acted as pall-bear ers: H. R. From Edgarton's Battery

Camp Jappusson, Ry., Dec. 30, 1861. Entropy Leavish-When one section of our Sattery and the dist Regiment were ordered operate for our afflicted citizens at his office Ostilpolis from Camp Dennison, fears (above this.) Many of our respected citi were entertained by many of us that the sens attest to his skill, and we learn of no Battery might be divided. But shortly af | instance in which he has failed to untivfy ter our arrival at Louisville, we received the those who have suffered from the most inwelcome news that the remainder of the Battery had arrived from Camp Dennison and had gone into Camp at Jeffersonville, Indians. We soon struck our tents and were or ur way to join them. When we arrived in ight of their camp, we saw them drawn up in line to receive us. As we approached and their features became visible, we saw no ong faces among them. They gave us three rousing cheers as we passed and broke ranks. Then followed such a scene of handshaking and friendly greetings as I have seldom witnessed. Some of the salutations were a little rough, but they came from warm hearts. Soldiering may make men rough in their habits and speech, but it will make rue and lasting friendship among them .-Warm hearts will not grow cold in the army. Before we were fairly settled in camp a Jeffersonville, we were again ordered across the river. We then went into camp on the Frankfort pike, four miles from Louisville. Here we remained about ten days, drilling and practicing our guns at target shooting Our living here was splendid. We had just eceived our pay, and we luxuriated in weet potatoes and vegetables of various kinds. The days were as pleasant and mild as our May. Life in Camp Gilbert, when we were off drill, was like a pic-nic-all but the ladies. But the ladies were not forgotoffice every day, a large majority of them firected to fair ones at home.

On the morning of the 18th of December t 2 o'clock, we struck our tents and were oon on the way to the Louisville & Nushville railroad depot. Arrived there, we took the cars for the seat of war in Southern Kentucky. We are now eight miles from Green river and forty-nine miles from Bowlng Green. Generals Rousseau and McCook ommand the advance of our forces on the river. Our Battery is assigned to General Mitchell's division, which will form the advance of the Federal forces against Buck ner. Capt. Edgarton has been promised th ight of Gen. Mitchell's division. So the Battery will probably be the first to open fire on the rebels at Bowling Green. This division is composed mostly of regiment that have seen service. Quite a number of the regiments from Western Virginia are with us. The 2nd and 21st Ohio regiments that assisted in cleaning out the rebels in Eastern Kentucky, and the 19th and 24th souri, are also with us. I think I may say, without boasting, that the division will no suffer by comparison with any in the ser-On Friday last we received a stand of colors, presented the battery by friends in Cleve-land. In the absence of the donors the Captain made the presentation speech. He read the following lascription engraved on the stand ard: "Presented to Edgarton's Battery by Friends in Cleveland," and remarked that those friends had presented us that first knowing that in our hands it would never be dishenored. We were in the service of country of which that flag waathe emblem It was the symbol of liberty. Whereever it might be borne, we would rally round it and never should rebel hands haul it down Wherever it firsts it will be the symbol o victory and freedom. When peace shall again smile upon us, we will bear it back to our native State with pride, knowing tha t floats over a rounited land. The Centair sed his remarks by quoting with thrilling effect the stanza commencing: "Forever dont that standard sheet." Six hearty cers were then given for the fleg, and hree for the donors. And the men broke ranks in good feeling.

With other folk's matters he's always been bosy, Cotter's battery, company A, of Colonel Barnott's Regiment, is on Green River, un-der Gen. McCook. The troops at that point So to-day fill your gasses, and see the stars.

A part of the let Michigan Regiment of the let of th sechanics and engineers has a rrived, and the new year will not be far advanced be-fore our columns will be moving South .-There is no prospect of a serious fight until we reach Bowling Green.

The weather hare is very fine for this sea-son of the year. I have never seen so pleasant a month in winter as Decamber has been here. There has not been more than four days bad weather during the The land in this vicinity is not very in viting to the farmer. The soil is poor, and quite hilly and rocky. Wells are very scarce here. There does not seem to be enterprise enough among the people to dig them where water can be had by going half a mile. We are obliged to carry our drinkng water that distance. The health of the Battery is good, except-ing a few cases of messies. These cases are stting along well. Farewell till the new year. Strange Compour,-At an early hour yesterdsf morning, probably about I o'clock a family residing on Kinsman street was of the house. The lady of the house went what was wanted. She was answered by a R is pure, for safe by A. M. PERRY & OO. rough voice without, stating that a man was there suffering from cold, who had no where to go, and asking that he might be admitted and remain during the night. The lasly returned to ask her husband's advice who told her that he must not be admitted, and himself went to the window and ordered the man sway. He started off, and before he issued from the yard, it was noticed that he had with him a short, heavy club. He to was a large man, well clad, apparently not an old man, and from the activity with which he walked and his general conduct, did not appear to be suffering greatly from the cold.

The gentleman has no doubt that it was the fellow's purpose to commit a robbery if he could get admission to the house, and that he had come prepared to meet resistance.
